

What did we do in 2023?

19

Site visits to agencies in 4

Progress visits to agencies in

6

Agency Review Committee (ARC) meetings

18

Review reports scrutinized

65

Experts from 24 nationalities
54% women
46% men

1

Appeal received

Did you know?

In 2023, ENQA conducted 7 targeted reviews. In line with the results of the previous analysis, ENQA increased the size of the panel (from 3 to 4 experts)

An in-depth evaluation of targeted reviews is currently ongoing with the aim to fine-tune the applicable methodology and procedures.

What do they say about targeted reviews?

95% of agencies said that brings value to its organisation

100% of agencies consider it managed to evaluate remaining challenges in ESG compliance

85% of experts found the dialogue with the coordinator on the scope effective

95% of experts flagged difficulties in engaging in discussions about the enhancement aspect

Source: 3 agencies and 10 experts participating in a targeted review in 2023

What do they say about ENQA Agency Reviews?

Agencies

Experts

100% ENQA coordinated the review in an effective way

The panel had a good understanding of the HE and QA system of the agency 80%

90% The structure and duration of the site visit was convenient

The review report reflected the exchanges between agency and panel 88%

100% The ENQA coordinator helped understand the scope of the review

Consider that the division of tasks inside the panel was suitable 94%

100% The site visit programme and invitees were relevant to inform the review

The panel did not face any difficulties in writing the review report 68%

“We learned from the ENQA review process how an ESG-compliant review should be conducted, more than just reading the standards. It is an example for us in several aspects.” -- ARACIS

“Although challenges occurred during the process, everything was managed in a very professional way. It has been a real pleasure and a learning opportunity for myself.” -- Expert

What do they say about ENQA Progress Visits?

Agencies

67% Considered that these visits were useful and up to their expectations

“The visiting experts were very involved, well-prepared and constructive. They gave us very fit-for-purpose advice and were very supportive in their comments.

UKÄ representative

Experts

100% Had a good understanding of what was expected from them thanks to the ENQA guidelines and the preparatory meeting

“It was a smooth and open visit. The objectives were completely clear for the experts and the agency. The timing was also ideal for the agency: enough reflection time and time to act after the initial visit”

Expert

Did you know?

ENQA yearly organises training for new agency reviewers

This training provides future reviewers with the necessary knowledge and guidance on the ESG, the ENQA Agency review process, compliance assessment and expectations of the ENQA Agency Review Committee (ARC)

Training is mandatory for all potential reviewers regardless of the nominating organisation

What do they say about our training?

95% Satisfied with the materials and structure of the training

92% Felt prepared to deal with complex issues during the review process

Source: 12 participants who took part in the training in 2023

Source: 3 agencies that have received a progress visit in 2022 and 6 experts that have participated in it

Our way forward

The 2023 ENQA analysis of Agency Reviews has revealed five key areas of action for the following year:

- 1. Review of the ENQA template for the external review to ensure it includes all the necessary evidence for evaluation of the agency's compliance against the ESG
- 2. Organisation of a specific training for secretaries to help establish a pool of panel secretaries with similar skills and competences to further improve the quality of reports
- 3. Analysis of the decisions taken by the Agency Review Committee (ARC) since its establishment in 2021
- 4. Improve the availability for panels of evidence from previous reviews (excerpts from the book of precedents) to support the consistency of reviews
- 5. Continue the collaboration between ENQA's Agency Review Committee (ARC) and EQAR's Register Committee (RC) regarding the use of the ESG and the review process

Co-funded by the European Union